USC Housing: Meeting Rooms

Introduction

Our Meeting Rooms:

USC Housing has a variety of spaces which hold meetings, programs, events and general gatherings. All of the spaces are located in our residential facilities which are located across campus as well as one in the north campus area. We offer rooms with audio/visual, pianos, kitchenettes as well as those with just tables and chairs. Our spaces have hosted events ranging from training sessions, blood drives, voter polling place, departmental mixers, student government meetings and classes taught by our residential faculty members.

Though the spaces are given priority to the respective residential complexes, there are times when we have openings and are inviting campus departments and groups to consider booking with us. With the class schedules of our residents, we have more flexibility with weekday availability which is often when you may be looking for a room! To offset our costs, there is a nominal reservation fee charged to all non-affiliated groups but we think you'll find this in line with other campus meeting spaces.

Amenities:

Several of our spaces are equipped with Multimedia Operations Management Systems (MOMS) which include projector interface, screens, cable TV, Blue-Ray DVD player and sound. These are the same that many of the campus classrooms have. We also have a few Mondopads which are giant PC touch screens that are capable of computer programs, collaborative presentations, and video-conferencing to another Mondopad. One room is equipped with a Monitor Interface which has one screen with four HDMI hookups; this allows four computers to be plugged into a video conference with an external source.

Kitchenette includes two ovens, sink, refrigerator, microwave, some counter space, and some cabinet space.
